Shore up your Shore

Landscaping with native plants helps prevent erosion, buffers the lake from pollutants, deters geese, and attracts desirable wildlife. The Ramsey Conservation District is sponsoring a 2 hour workshop on lakescaping and shoreline restoration. Conservation specialists Shawn Tracy and Ryan Johnson will share examples of restored shorelines, the how-to behind it, and available cost share for 2009. There is no cost for attendance and preregistration is preferred as space is limited.

Where: Ramsey County Public Works Building
1425 Paul Kirkwold Drive
Arden Hills, MN 55112

When: Monday March 16, 2009
6:00pm-8:00pm

The workshop will cover:

- Cause and effect of Shoreline erosion and pollutant runoff
- Design considerations for shoreline projects
- Case studies of restored shores (before and after)
- Overview of available Cost Share for 2009

To reserve your place, or if you have questions, contact Ann Heyer, Ramsey Conservation District, 651-266-7271 or email at: ann.heyer@co.ramsey.mn.us.
